Associational Mission Strategist

Kyle Hill, the executive pastor at Immanuel Baptist gave a devotion recently at our meeting for the Central Santa Rosa Ministerial Fellowship that I want to pass along.

The core of the Christmas season is found in Matt 1:22-23—“Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and they shall call his name Immanuel” (which means, God with us).

Immanuel...God with Us -He is Present.....

That's the heart of Christmas. Not just lights, music, or presents—but the staggering truth that God Himself stepped into our world.

1. God came down to us

- He didn't wait for us to clean ourselves up.
- He didn't tell us to try harder and maybe someday we could reach Him.
- Instead, He stepped into our brokenness—into a real place, at a real time, with real people.
- Jesus was born in a small town, to ordinary parents, laid in a manger because there was no room in the inn. The Savior of the world entered in the most humble way possible.

2. God is with us in our real lives

“God with us” isn't just a Christmas card phrase. It's a promise.

The good news of Immanuel is that Jesus is not distant from any of that.

- He knows what it's like to be tired and misunderstood.
- He knows what it's like to be rejected and to suffer.
- He entered a world of political tension, poverty, and pain—not a Hallmark movie.

So when we say “God with us,” we mean:

- God with us in the hospital room.
- God with us at the empty seat at the table.
- God with us in the stress and strain of life.
- God with us in our sin and shame, offering grace and forgiveness.

Christmas declares: You are not alone.

3. God is for us through the cross

It's easy to leave Jesus in the manger, but the manger always points to the cross.

The baby born in Bethlehem grew up:

- He lived the perfect life we could never live.
- He died the death we deserved to die.

He rose again so that we could have eternal life
